

Vidyo for Individualized Education Programs

What are Your Needs?

- Do you need to bring in outside evaluators to observe students in their normal classroom setting?
- Do you need to offer students smaller or individualized classes?
- Are you able to offer all of the remedial classes students need to catch up with peers?
- Are all members of your disabled students' education team supported? Do they have access to professional development?
- Do you need to coordinate administrators, parents, teachers, and students to develop and monitor IEPs?

Under the Individuals with Disabilities Education Act, students with disabilities are entitled to a free, appropriate public education. For each student, the act requires schools to collaborate with other service providers and parents on an Individualized Education Program (IEP). This program is tailored to the individual student's disability and delivered in the least restrictive environment possible with respect to the student's learning. The ultimate goal is to prepare these students for further education, employment and independent living.

The Vidyo Solution

The need to assess students in all areas related to their known disabilities

Vidyo provides the means to observe students in their classroom setting, including the ability to remotely connect multiple professionals to participate.

The need to coordinate efforts among parents and professionals to support the student for learning

Vidyo provides a platform for easily bringing together professionals to meet concerning student needs, develop further plans and consideration and including families in the discussion is as easy a click of a mouse.

The need to offer individual tutoring and credit remediation as needed

Students who have trouble concentrating in large group settings may find it easier to concentrate with one-one-one tutoring and self-paced courses over Vidyo. These students also have access to recorded content for later review via Vidyo.

The need to provide the proper support and professional development opportunities for the education staff

Educational paraprofessionals and teachers can use Vidyo to access professional development content. Teachers and staff can also use Vidyo to create virtual mentoring networks for shared learning and continuity as students progress from grade-to-grade and school-to-school
